Crowdfunder are delighted to announce the launch of their Cost of Living Resilience Fund.

Where social enterprises can apply for up to £50,000 if you create a Crowdfunder project which helps individuals and communities navigate and overcome the challenges posed by the cost of living crisis.

As living expenses continue to rise and affect people's quality of life, the Crowdfunder Cost of Living Resilience Fund is designed to empower initiatives and community organisations across England to address these pressing issues.

The Fund provides match funding for social sector organisations running services to help people struggling with the rising cost of living. The fund aims to increase the sustainability of these organisations by supporting them to deliver projects which increase enterprise activity to build stability and resilience.

The programme is funded by Access – The Foundation for Social Investment - which is focused on tackling areas such as affordable housing, food security, sustainable transportation and reducing household expenses.
